The partners of the company are personalities with extensive life and job experience who obtained their high professional and management competence after their studies in functions as chief executives or managing directors of important companies in the consumer / capital goods, trade or service industries and proved it with long-term, good or even excellent management results.

We are always interested when similar, marketing-/sales oriented partners want to join us - mainly in the field of personnel consulting - and are looking forward to receiving detailed inquiries.

After 25 years of successful activities in the market, we built up an exceptional, extensive and intensive contact network with the decision makers and very qualified executive personalities. Our consulting services - always very individual, objective and target-oriented - are regularly accepted as almost singular and recommended further.

In view of this and our renowned reputation, executive personalities don't hesitate to make use of our consulting services whenever planning a change in their professional career and also often recommend our attention for other qualified executives.

Those multiple, personal contacts - synergetically combined - form the basis of our special competence which has enabled us to convincingly and successfully support companies already for many years both in searching and winning especially qualified executive personalities and in management consulting areas.
